Six Secret Lives

Part One

As dawn broke over Madrid, Amber and Ember scurried into an alleyway concealed from the sun. The two cats saw a flash of movement in the shadows. "Pepper! Your so easy to see even though your black" laughed Ember. Then another black cat appeared beside Pepper. "Ebony, nice to see you too" smiled Ember (Amber had mumbled Hi Eby).

"Let's go into the den" said Pepper. (The den was the cellar of an old warehouse who's entrance was blocked by a lot of heavy crates.) The other cats agreed. Once they were inside the den they saw that James (a tabby) had prepared supper for five. "Where's Esha?" asked Amber. "Missin'" replied James "No seriously where is she" I dun' know really I don' "He's right we don't know, Amber" said Ebony softly. "Now lets get some sleep".

When they awoke both James and Ebony had vanished into thin air, but the only clue was a few scratch marks and a piece of sacking with an address in North Madrid. Pepper had said "I feel like this has something to do with Esha!

Part Two

On the other side of Madrid three cats one snowy white, one a tabby and one a pure black stared helplessly at the horrifying figure before them. A Catnapper. The man/Catnapper had said well, perhaps we should move this one into the cellar (here he had prodded Esha in the stomach). Once Esha had been brought down to the cellar the man left for Belgium.

Back at the den, the remaining cats (Pepper Ember and Amber) were having a small conversation which went something like this:

Amber: any ideas on where those three are?

Pepper: Maybe that old warehouse in North Madrid?

Ember: Then let's go find them!

Pepper + Amber: Lets!

As darkness fell over Madrid, the desperate cats set out. The rescue party climbed onto a bus that travelled to North Madrid. They arrived just down the lane from the old warehouse where the lost cats were held. They scaled the building, fell down the chimney (that turned them all black) and hid in case anyone saw them. They hid for an hour but there was no sound at all, so they crept onward to find there friends. After five minutes, they reached a room with...James and Ebony inside! Ebony was pacing up and down but James was asleep, that is, until Ebony shook him awake saying "wake up there here!" Once James was awake Pepper asked where's Esha? In the celler, ansawed James. I'll pop down and get her, shall I? Do! replied Ebony,

Once James came back with Esha they were just in time to "catch the bus" home. When they got home they all went straight to bed. THE END
